THE NATIONAL VOTE AT THE GENERAL ELEC TION-A GRAND AND GENERAL TRIUMPH FOR REPUBLICANISM.

WSPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD BY CARLE. ]

The republican triumph in the Assembly elections as more complete than the most sanguine republican partisans expected. The republicans, with the conetitutionalists, will command a majority amounting to almost two-thirds of the lower house. Nearly Bll the official candidates have been beaten. DEMOCRACY IN THE CITIES.

The republicans triumph, without exception, in All the large cities. M. Gambetta has carried five seats and M. Louis Blanc three. GAMBETTA'S PARTY STRENGTH.

Half the republicans returned are radical Gambetwists, following the ex-Dictator blindly. THE BONAPARTISTS CRUSHED.

The Bonapartists were cruelly crushed. Baron Haussmann is beaten in Paris; also M. Raoul Duval, M. Rouher's rival, the Prince of Wagram; M. Burgoing, the late Emperor's equerry; M. Estaucelin, Empress Eugenie's Secretary, Prince Napoleon and many others of the imperialist stripe were also

THE SUPPLY OF BREADSTUFPS AND PRICES-HEAVY DAMAGES AGAINST A STEAMSHIP COM-

The Mark Lane Express, issued this morning, has the following in its report of the British corn market:-The severe frost, of which we wrote last week, was quickly succeeded by a rapid thaw, and trade, which was improving slightly, has relapsed into inactivity. At Paris the market has taken the same course, but as it advanced more during the frost it yielded more readily with the return of mild weather. In two or three days flour rose nearly three francs. It looked like the commencement of a steady reaction; but the advance was almost wholly lost within three days. The abundance of home supplies after the poor crop is equally remarkable in France as in England. Not less remarkable is the fact that the stock of flour in Paris is much larger than last year. Notwithstanding its large crop there, even much more than here, the supplies since the harvest have largely consisted of old wheat, and probably explains in great part the comparative low price of home-grown wheat,

PROCEEDINGS IN COURT YESTERDAY IN THE JONES MURDER CASE-A MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL FOR JONES-EXCITEMENT IN THE

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., Feb. 21, 1876, Manch Chunk has been the scene of another popular excitement to-day, not like that flerce, surging emo tion which prevailed in the early stages of the proceed ings in the Jones murder case, but a deep and intense feeling, created by the enormity of the crime com mitted, and which comes to the surface under the cer-tain strides which justice is making toward the punishnent of criminals. The counsel for Doyle, who allowed his case to go to the jury without an examination of witnesses, made a motion for a new trial after the conviction for murder in the first degree, and to day was fixed upon by the Court to hear the argument why sentence should be suspended and a reviewal of the case of granted. This morning a telegram was received from Mr. Bartholomew, one of Doyle's counsel, asking for a further postponement on the part of the Court, giving as a reason that he could not be present on account of Supreme Court business.

Judge Dreher remarked that he saw no good cause for further delay and should dispose of the case when the Court assembled at two o'clock.

The announcement that the prisoner would receive his sentence travelled rapidly over the town, and soon after dinner the streets were crowded by all classes of people, those who seemingly sympathized with the condemned being apparently in a large majority. The his sensence travelled rapidly over the town, and soon after dinner the atrects were crowded by all classes of people, those who seemingly sympathized with the condemned being apparently in a large majority. The most perfect order, however, was maintained on the thoroughfares, and the officers found no difficulty in transporting their prisoner from the jail to the court house. The court room was filled to its atmost capacity, and hundreds of people surrounded the building waiting, in eager expectancy, for the scene inside to close. Among the audience were the father and mother of the accused, who had come to hear the terrible words which were to consign their son to an ignominious death.

The fight over the wretched prisoner was an earnest one. THE LATE CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN.

THE FUNERAL OBSEQUIES OF THE LATE DIS-TINGUISHED ACTRESS AT BOSTON YESTER-DAY-SIMPLE AND INTERESTING SERVICES-AN ASSEMBLY OF DISTINGUISHED FRIENDS OF

This has been a sad and interesting day in Boston, the occasion being the final obsequies over the remains of the late Charlotte Cushman in the city of her birth, childhood and some of her greatest professional triumphs. The services were participated in not only by the general public, but by the high officials of the State and city, the leading representatives of the pro-fession which she adorned and hundreds of others in eminent walks of life who were wont to recognize her genius while living.

THE REMAINS LYING IN STATE At an early hour this morning the body was placed in a casket covered with black broadcloth and studded with silver ornaments, which rested in the parlor which Miss Cushman occupied at the Parker House. The features retained a remarkably life-like appearthe valley, and upon the casket a cross of ivy, in which were mingled japonica blossoms. At the head of the casket stood a large and beautiful floral crown. At ten o'clock the parlor was opened to the public and hun-dreds of ladies and not a few gentlemen went in and

THE PUBLIC SERVICES took place in King's chapel, the doors of which were opened to the public at twenty minutes past eleven. Two hours before the doors were opened ladies began to assemble in front of the gates and appealed to the sexton for admittance, who was assisted in preventing a rush into the church by a strong force of police. The seats in the broad aisle were reserved for the relatives and intimate friends of Miss Cushman and members of the theatrical profession and distinguished officials. The galleries were epened to the public and were speedily filled to overflowing.

THE REMAINS CONVEYED TO THE CHAPKL.

THE REMAINS CONVEYED TO THE CHAPEL.

At precisely tweive o'clock the remains were conveyed from the Parker House to the chapel and placed upon a bier in front of the altar, the following gentlemen acting as palibearers:—Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, Charles Amory, and Addison Child. It was desired by Miss Cushman and intended by her relatives that the dramatic profession should be represented among the palibearers, and Mr. William Warren was requested to act as one of them, but, although anxious to do so, he was compelled to decline on account of professional duties. A telegram was sent to New York requesting John Gilbert, Miss Cushman's oldest friend, to serve as one of the palibearers, but he, much against his wishes, was prevented from attendance at the obsequies.

Ar. Joseph H. Tooker, the business manager of Booth's Theatre, arrived from New York yesterday morning to represent Jarrett & Palmer at the funeral. He brought with him several magnificent floral tributes, one from Jarrett & Palmer at the funeral. He brought with him several magnificent floral tributes, one from Jarrett & Palmer, being not only very large, but of singular beauty in composition and design. From a bed of white roses and pond lilies, upon which is the legend of letters in violets, "Fare Thee Well," arises a column holding a crown surmounted by a cross. This was placed in the centre of the altar rail and was the most conspicuous portion of the display. Lawrence Barrett sent a very appropriate piece, representing a sheaf of wheat, the column being entwined with autumn leaves. The one word, "Rest," in letters of violets, is on the pillow, which is bordered by forget me nots and immortelles.

A crown of laurels, knotted with white satin ribbons, the gift of Mr. Tooker, was placed on the crown above the central piece. Mr. Barrett's offering and a magnificent crown from Miss Clara Louise Keilogg stood on the right of the centre, and on the other a beautiful cross of vivy, the gift of Miss Charlotte Johnson, formerly of the Museum.

Upon a pedestal within the altar stood a large cross of ivy and camelia blossoms, sent by Mr. Harvey D. Parker. On the residing desk was placed a lyre of choice flowers by the Cushman school, and in front of the desk was suspended a crescent and star of exceeding beauty, the offering of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert. Mr. William Warren, of the Museum, sent a handsome cross; Miss Julia Ward Howe a beantiful bouquet, George B. Norman, of Newport, a large star formed of camelias, lilies of the valley, roses and other choice flowers; Mr. George Farasworth, formerly treasurer of the Globe Theatre, also brought a floral star of rare beauty; Messrs. Tompkins and Hill, of the Boston Theatre, sent a star of white lillies, roses and other blossoms.

At the request of the relatives of the deceased the services were of the simplest character, and consisted of the King's Chapel burial service, the musical selections being as follows:—Refrain to the burial chant, by Mr. Tutts, the organist; "Abide with me," Burnett, by a quartet of voices; "Their sun shall no more so down," Tuckerman, by the quartet; hymn, "O, when when shall reat be found?"

A TOUCHING INCIDENT.

An interesting medent, appropriate to the occasion, took place at the close of the peaim. Eight young girls, pupils in the Cushman School, were present, dressed in white and wearing black sashes. They were accompanied be several of the teachers. In the interval of the service the children stepped forward and each placed a bouquet of flowers on the casket as a tribute to the memory of her in whose honor-the school was named.

was named.

At the close of the service the casket was borne to the hearse and the mourners took carriages and followed the remains to Mount Auburn, where they were interred with appropriate committal services.

NATIONAL HOLIDAY PROCLAIMED BY THE PRESIDENT-THE BROAD BRIMS OF THE CEN-TENNIAL CITT IN A PEVER OF PATRIOTISM-CRLEBRATION OF THE EVENT IN THE CITY.

Washington, Feb. 21, 1876.
The President to-day issued the following Executive

Whereas the following concurrent resolution has been adopted by the Congress of the United States:—
Be it resolved, That for the promotion of the national feeling throughout the Union on the occasion of the centennial year of our independence, and believing this to be the proper time for the expression of our appreciation of the great services rendered to the people and the cause of liberty by the Father of our Country, theorge Wushington, the 22d day of the present mooth shall be treated and deemed a national indicay throughout the United States in the government business, and, so far as its consistest with the public welfare, in all of the departments of the government employment shall be suspended on that day; and whereas the spirit and sentiment expressed in said resolution meets with my warmest approval.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of that purpose, and in harmony with the general sentiment of the nation, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States of America, hereby direct that all business in the Executive Department of the government shall be suspended on the 22d of February, 1876, and that said departments shall be closed on that day.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21, 1876.
Washington's Birthday will be celebrated to-morrow with unprecedented enthusiasm. The programme of pageantry for the day and the preparation for the decoration and illumination of public and private year. Never before have there been such indications flags, bunting and lanterns declare that the demand for these articles has never been so great for this fesdays. The streets are filled with wagons and porters carrying flags and patriotic decorations, and thousands burdened with similar articles. His Honor the Mayor burdened with similar articles. His Honor the Mayor has issued a proclamation requesting that national salutes be fired; that all places of business be closed; that cutzens observe the day with a display of flags and bunting, and that they illuminate their houses in the evening. Every indication shows that this call upon their patriotism will be responded to by the masses with fervor, and that the day will be a general festival. By act of Assembly it is a legal holiday, and all public offices will be closed and all business suspended.

The PROGRAMS VOR THE DAY.

To-morrow's dawn will be ubsered in by the ringing of church bells, and at daybreak national salutes will be pred by the Keystone Battery and at the military and askad stations of the vicinity. At noon the bell in Old Independence Hall will be rung for half an hourmot the original prophetic old bell that proclaimed "liberty throughout all the land," but its mere modern successor. In accordance with Mayor Stokely's suggestion other bells will chime in all over the city. Independence Hall and the State House will be decorated during the day and a grand fillumination will take place there in the evening. In the illumination a number of lanterns of unique design will be used. The lanterns are nearly three feet in height, and are constructed of colored glass. The sides of these lanterns are covered with beautiful seroll work, illustrative of events in the history of General Washington. The front of the building will be decorated with a superb medallion twelve feet in diameter, representing the Goddess of Liberty placing the langer crown upon Washington's head. This will be illuminated by rays from a calcium light placed upon the roof of an adjoining building.

There will be a large handsome turnout of the mititary, net in one body, but as separate organizations. The Veteran corps of the First regiment will make its first parade, and will march to Concert Hall, where there will be martial music and addresses by General J. W. Military Hall, No. 193 Bowery, at twelve o'clock, and celebrate the day by a patriotic dinner.
Adjutant, J. Gould Warren, will houst the Stars and Stripes over the old fort in Central Park at sunrise.
The "Veteran Doctor," for many years attached to Harry Hill's Variets Theatre, has a benedit at that popular resort at two this afternoon. The programme is a varied one and comprises almost every species of sport known to the house—character songs, patriotic chorus, ministrel business, wreating and boxing. The enter-tainment begins at two o'clock sharp.

The indications are that the celebration of Washington's Birthday in Brooklyn will be a worthy one. The courts, State and federal, will be closed. No business will be transacted either in the city or county government departments. Schools, both public and p will enjoy a holiday The colors of the city will be will enjoy a holiday. The colors of the city will be displayed from the Hall and Court House. All the theatres and places of amusement will be open afternoon and evening, and they offer a great variety of entertainments to the people. The chimes of St. Ann's on the Heights will be played. At the Puritan church, corner of Marcy and Lafayette avenues, a Centennial reception was held last evening, when President and Lady Washington and Patrick Henry were personated by members of the congregation. The entertainment will be continued this evening. Last evening the Clamba-Gael, the Irish Nationalists, held their second annual ball at the Assembly Rooms, and the affair was most enjoyable and successful in every particular.

Balls, parties and church festivals will mainly monopolize the attention of the Williamsburgers.

MOODY AND SANKEY.

As the days go by the interest manifested by the attendants on the revival services at the Hippodrome evidently increases, though as yet it has not developed any such fervor of religious excitement as the labors of the celebrated evangelists evoked in the British Islands. In the day services yesterday the attendance was much larger than on Saturday. Addresses were made by Messra Hepworth, Paxon, Mcallister, Murphy, Tyag, Jr., John Hall and Sankey telling of the progress of the spiritual awakening both in the great meetings and in their several churches. At the close Mr. Sankey tool charge of a large inquiry meeting. At the evening meeting, after the usual opening hymns and prayers were closed, Mr. Moody said:—My text this evening is the nineteenth chapter of Luke, tenth verse. "For the son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." In that verse the whole came to do a work, and it is to sinners, to save the lost; and if you would look carefully through the Bible came to do a work, and it is to sinners, to save the lost; and if you would look carefully through the Bible you find that every man that God sent before Christ to do a work succeeded, and so do you think that GoD's son is going to PAIL?

Do you think God sent Him into the world to save sinners, and then did not give Him the power to accomplish the work, or do you net think Christ is willing to save all that come? I would like to take all the surroundings of this case. In the last part of the eighteenth chapter we find Christ coming near the city of Jericho. I can imagine a man meeting a poor blind beggar by the wayside and saying. "Silver and gold have I fiche, but I bring you better news; you can get your sight." "Oh, no," says Bartimeus, "I was born blind." "Oh, yes," says the mar; "I just saw Him restore a man's sight who was born blind." And for the first time hope came to his breast and the man told how "Jesus spat upon the ground, and mixed some mud and put on the man's eyes, enough to put out good eyes; then he went and washed in the pool of Siloam seven times and his sight was restored. And then it won't cost you anything; you don't need any influence of any committee to call up n Him; just ask Him and He will grant your petition." "Well," says Bartimeus, "if He ever comes this way I will ask Him." And I can imagine Bartimeus sitting by the wayside. He hears a noise of a coming crowd and he asks the meaning of it, and they told him, "Jesus of Nazarth passeth by." "Now," he says, "this is my golden opportunity," and he began to cry out. "Thou son of David, have morey ou me!" Some one hushed him, thinking Christ would not like to be disturbed, but Christ sent for the man and restored his sight. Mr. Moody wont on to tell the story of Zaccheug' sudden conversion. He continued:—O sinners, make haste. It may be I am speaking to some who will hear the call to-night for the iast time. Christ did not come to condemn the world, but to seek and to save sinners. Behold Him to might, the Son of God, the Saviour of right down from His throne to save you. Let the cry go up to-night.

At Mr. Moudy's request about 100 persons rose, asking prayers, and he offered a most earnest supplication for them, after which the meeting closed by the singing of the eighty-seventh hymn. The inquiry rooms were all filled by seckers after eternal life. The overflow meeting was crowded. Dr. Haii presided during the first part of the meeting and Mr. Sankey during the last. the last.
